MONDAY MORNING FEB 1 1864

REMOVAL.

The Office of the DAILY and WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been removed to Carter's new brick block corner of Front and Washington streets up stairs. Entrance on Washington street, first door from Front

News by the Steamer

The late hour at which we received papers by the Oregon prevents comment

The removal of Mr Briggs from office as Receiver of the Land-office at Roseburg, and the appointment of A R Flint in his place is announced.

The report that a Major General of the army is to be sent to this coast, is revived, and it is also stated that ten full regiments are to be called into the service.

Many other items of interest will be found in the dispatches

NOTHING EASIER —Many people curiously wonder how the Peace Democracy and its leaders in Oregon can possibly follow the course prescribed for them by the party managers in the East There might be some reason for this, if such a party had any principles, or if it regarded anything but success as worthy of labor or consideration The end sanctifies the means in all cases, with its members, and nothing is to be regarded which may stand in the way of a party triumph It can be for war, for the abolition of slavery, for anything which will give it strength In all this it is entirely consistent, because its first object is power, which once acquired—no matter how—will enable it to disregard all pledges, and to be the slave of slavery and the humble and obedient tool of the rebellion, in aiding it to accomplish its treasonable purposes.

THE IRON CLAD STEAMER TO BE SAVED —California papers say that the wrecking party sent out by the New York Board of Underwriters to recover the Monitor Comanche and raise the Aquila has arrived. The party consists of ten experienced wreckers and four professional divers, in charge of Capt Merritt, lead wrecker of the New York Board of Underwriters Capt Merritt states that on examination he finds that the peril and inconvenience of her position has been in no way exaggerated by the agent here in his reports to the Board, but that the public may rest assured that the Aquila will be raised complete, and that the Comanche will be ready to defend us from invaders within a very short period.

GREAT FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE IN SANTIAGO, CHILE —The Panama Star and Herald of January 2d says

The steamer America, Captain Morton, of M O Roberts's New York and San Francisco line, which sailed from New York on the 30th of October, arrived here on the forenoon of the 1st inst The America was nine days and five hours from Valparaiso and brings from that place the sad news that on the 14th of December the Cathedral in Santiago the Capitol of Chile, had caught fire by the explosion of a gas pipe during the celebration of an Episcopal High Mass whilst the building was densely crowded with human beings. When the alarm of fire was given the crowd rushed to the doors, which, opening in, were soon closed by the press, and all egress prevented The interior of the building was decorated with light, inflammable ornaments, which caused the flames to spread rapidly The roof, which was of wood, soon fell in, burying the mass of beings beneath it. Some 1,950 dead bodies mostly ladies and children, had been recovered from the ruins. As we have no direct advices from Valparaiso, we cannot vouch for the accuracy of the above The news was brought by Captain Morton, of the America, who learned the particulars from a letter from Santiago received by one of his passengers The South American mail steamer, which reached Panama January 4th with $918 000 in treasure for England, brings confirmation of the above, placing the number killed at over 2,000 The Cathedral contained 2,000 lights, from some of which the fire communicated to the drapery of the [illegible] columns and pasteboard devices In an instant a sheet of flames rushed along the festoons of the roof, and directly spread to all parts of the building. The people rushed to the principal door, which was soon blocked up Most of the men escaped by the sacristy and inside the doors But few of the ministers escaped The lights suspended plentifully from the roof poured a rain of liquid fire on the people below, and in less than fifteen minutes over 2,000 people perished

NEW YORK Jan 24 —The Times contains the translation of a letter from a Frenchman formerly in the rebel army dated Richmond Jan 14th He reports the arrival there of another agent of the Emperor named Mortigny and his [illegible] conference with Jeff Davis It is known that he says Jeff has promised France all the advantage of a Southern Confederacy if Napoleon would recognize and support the Southern [illegible] All our principal men he says [illegible] the United States is [illegible] The writer has no doubt that a plan making Gen Lee dictator will be adopted as the only means to counteract the strength of the North. Lee it is expected is willing to accept it He and Jeff are on bad terms Davis is very unpopular in consequence of keeping Bragg so long in command [illegible] Bragg [illegible] army of Virginia and [illegible] Dalton but had to abandon the plan on account of the great [illegible] brought against it Johnston who took the command of Bragg's demoralized army thought of retreating to Atlanta but was kept at Dalton by an order from Richmond that he might take advantage of the probable weakening of the Northern army, by furloughs and by expiration of the soldier's term of service Jeff's plan is to keep the army on an offensive footing [illegible] Lee gave his opinion that with the miserable condition of the army in regard to clothing and provisions it was impossible to do so Early's expedition was a miserable failure more than 1 000 [illegible] having their feet frozen

The news from Charleston the writer says is discouraging Beauregard has expressed an opinion that he could not hold Charleston much longer as Gilmore's guns [illegible] to reduce it to ashes in a few hours The [illegible] One of the South Carolina regiments doing duty there intended to desert en masse but were prevented by one of the soldiers giving information Twenty ringleaders were shot on the [illegible] and the rest divided up among other regiments The [illegible] Virginia regiment was [illegible] to Alabama, but refused to go and were [illegible] other regiments as the only plan to avoid mutiny

Breaches occurred almost daily in the South The writer concludes that the days of the Southern Confederacy are numbered and its spirit once broken

A Pernambuco letter of December 15th reports both the Alabama and Tuscaloosa at St Catharine's Nov 30th They were refused supplies and ordered off at the request of the American Consul As regards the Alabama the letter must be mistaken

The point raised by Mr Pugh in the Vallandigham case, in the Supreme Court, is that a military commission has no authority to try a citizen, having no jurisdiction except over the persons in the military and naval service Mr Holt submitted a written argument in opposition to this view The Court reserves its decision

The President's letter of instruction to Gen Steele in regard to the election in Arkansas is, that he be assured at the said election and thenceforth that the Constitution be so modified as to declare there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude except as punishment for crimes, but the General Assembly may make such provisions for the freed people as shall recognize their permanent freedom and provide for their education, and which may yet be considered a temporary arrangement in their present condition as a laboring landless and homeless class

How it Looks.—Strangers, and even our own citizens, sometimes, become disgusted with the old, rotten, broken up, and submerged, side-walks and cross-walks, of the city, rendered totally impassable in more than two-thirds of the corporate limits. Now, we dislike this continual harping about streets, as much as any one, but when we see a party of ladies and gentlemen stringing along like so many Indians, ever and anon stopping to take soundings, or branching off in different ways, to get through or around a mud hole, we think it is time to speak a few words in behalf of the city. Last Saturday morning we alluded to the fact that a heavy rush of people would be likely to set this way soon, and expressed our gratification at the prospect, hoping as they come they would be pleased with our appearance, and eventually be satisfied to locate with us. A general look about town however, would materially diminish the chances, if there is any truth in the saying that first appearances rule subsequent action. The city at present presents little inducement to persons to settle here, and we are mistaken if we do not lose greatly by the sham operations of our city government.

The Excursion.—The Fair Play left for Oregon City as proposed, on Saturday afternoon. Previous to starting the Mechanics' Band discoursed some of their finest strains from on board, when she cast off in fine style, making an excellent appearance, as she passed out from the dock with her merry and musical crowd. The boat being yet unfinished it was scarcely expected everybody would be satisfied, but it seems they were, and the utmost good feeling prevailed, all the way to the end of their journey. Once in Oregon City the good time commenced, and after a grand social re-union, lasting until midnight, they parted company with our neighbors there firmer friends than ever. At nine o'clock yesterday morning the little steamer was fired up, and in a very short time afterwards landed her passengers in Portland, where they received the greetings of many of our citizens.

Ferocious Dogs.—A good watch-dog is at all times valuable, and more especially so, if ...e to know his place and business. We ...have no objections to being bit by such ..., that is, if we interfered in its affairs, ...there are dogs in this city, of the most ferocious character, upon which owners place ...estraint, but give them the entire range ... streets at night, rendering it unsafe ...ons to pass their premises. A short ...ince one of this class of watch-dogs at... a man, who was compelled to fight his ...of way" until assisted by the watch... go on about his business. We are ... to good dogs, and would dislike to hurt through carelessness of its owner.

...y Business.—Mr. R. R. Haines takes leave this morning on the Senator, having charge all the wire necessary for the com...tion of the Telegraph. It is regretted that ...e had not been transported through the ...mpqua before the roads got so bad, but Mr. will soon arrange matters in that locality. By Thursday the line will be up and in operation from this city to Eugene, and if possible to find freighters, will be sent forward to complete the balance immediately.

Superintendent of the Company.—Our dispatches this morning announce the election of Mr. R. R. Haines, in San Francisco on the 20th, as superintendent of the California State Telegraph Company. This places Mr. H. in control over their entire lines; he is well fitted for the position, and we are pleased to be able to announce his election.

Off at Last.—Those interested in the cargo of the Industry will be pleased to hear that she has crossed the bar at the mouth of the Columbia, and finally gone to sea. She has been very "industrious," waiting for such an opportunity, ever since the freeze up, but none was obtained until Thursday last.

Arrived.—The barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg, Capt. Wiggin, arrived in port at 7½ o'clock last evening, fifteen days from San Francisco. She bore to off the Bar on the fifth day out, in thick weather. Was off seven days and a half in boisterous weather. The following is a manifest of her cargo:

Smith & Davis, 424; Failing & Hatt, 764; Elfelt, Weil & Co, 500; M Seller & Co, 9; Mcilwain & Morse, 108; Baum Bros, 201; E J Northrop & Co, 5; H W Corbett, 147; A G Hovey, 2; Richards & McCraken, 9; J L Gumbinner, 80; C C Parker, 180; O S Savage, 1; Portland Gas Co, 100; C A Wilson, 1; Willamette Woolen Co, 17; Hodge & Calef, 212; U H Alley, 3; Hurgren & Shindler, 8; C A Co, 3; Richards & McCraken, 14; Capt Flavel, 34; E L Jones, 3; J Seller & Co, 5; I K & Dep, 72; Harker Bros, 20; Emil Lowenstein & Co, 11; Walter Bros, 25; Allen & Lewis, 2; A Cahn & Co, 254; Ladd, Reed & Co, 25; Knapp, Burrell & Co, 85; Lamond D, order, 200; O S N Co, 21; A A Q M, 800.

Heading up Stream.—Several wagons were on the streets yesterday, intending to leave on the Hunt this morning for the upper country. It used to be: "Westward, the star of empire," &c., but that's played out; now a counter-current starts in.

The Senator in her trips for Saturday and Sunday, carried about 100 tons freight, and over ninety passengers. She brought a few of the excursionists, who had remained over at Oregon City, and a heavy paper mail, yesterday, arriving at four o'clock p. m.

The Ball given by the soldiers at Ft. Vancouver, for the aid of the Sanitary Commission, netted seventy-five dollars. Good for the soldiers; such items show that their pulse is right.

Honey for Boise.—The last steamer from San Francisco brought up sixteen cases of honey, each containing two fifty pound boxes, bound with hoop iron, and carefully packed for their long winter trip.

Meets To-Day.—The Multnomah County Court, Judge Marquam, will convene at the Court House to-day, at 1 p. m.

The New Church Edifice.—The work on the new Presbyterian Church edifice is approaching completion as readily as the weather will permit. Carpenters are now engaged upon the inside work, and a few pleasant, drying days, would materially assist the masonry, which promises to be a very creditable portion of the structure.

A Mistake.—The marine reporter of the San Francisco Bulletin made us say the bark Julia Cobb had sailed for this port on the 16th. It was a mistake, she has been chartered for eight months, to run to the Sound.

Ready to Set Sail.—The Almatia was taken to Oak Point on the 21st, to load with lumber for San Francisco. Capt. Wiggin informs us that she is now ready for sea.

The Letter List.—This document is to be found on our fourth page, to-day.

Pius IX and his French Physician.

The journals have all spoken at a certain period of the state of health of Pius IX. He had, in his leg especially, a disease which inspired the greatest uneasiness. I can assure the consciences so loyally disturbed that the disease is healed, and the Holy Father is saved; and what is still more curious, he has been saved by a free-thinker.

The facts are these: Recently a French physician, M. le Docteur G——, was at Rome. He had not gone there to seek for relics against fever or madness. He traveled there simply en savant, as a lover of antiquity, and he visited ruins and museums much more than the churches. Chance placed him in contact with a personage connected with the Pope, one of those honest courtiers such as courts can produce (even the Court of Rome,) who are devoted to the person of the sovereign rather than to the institution which he represents. This personage confided then to Dr. G—— his feelings of alarm at the state of his Holiness' leg.

"What says his physician?" asked Dr. G——.

The courtier, shaking his head, said that the Holy Father received very few visits from physicians.

"Why so? Does he mistrust the science?"

"No," said the courtier, "it is not that.—Our Holy Father does not ask anything better than to be healed, but he dares not hope for a cure."

"How is that?"

"His friends see with pain that he is following a certain treatment, and he is himself resigned to live or die. He looks forward to a miracle only for a cure, and in the meantime he wishes that his illness may aid him to simplifying the Roman question, by withdrawing him from a melee in which his friends defend him with so much ferocity."

"How horrible!" exclaimed Dr. G——, "cannot I see the Holy Father? I will undertake to heal him."

"To see him alone is very difficult; but I will go and try to obtain for you a tete-a-tete," replied the good courtier, "and perhaps we shall arrive at a successful result."

The next day Dr. G—— was privately informed that an audience with the Pope would be granted him, but that he should kiss his slipper and receive his benediction. Behold, then, a free-thinker compelled to present himself at the Vatican in the humble attitude of a young member of the fraternity of St. Vincent de Paul, or of an orator of the Congress of Malines. Dr. G——, finding himself face to face with the Chief of Christianity, prostrated himself before the Holy Father (I do not know whether the hypocrite did not even bring him a rosary to bless.) The Holy Father, however, assisted him to arise, and drawing him aside exposed his diseased leg.

"What is the matter with me?" asked he in a low voice.

The doctor shook his head in replying, "Erysipelas!"

"Is it mortal?" added the Pope, with a tranquil smile, and as resigned as the first martyr of Catholicism.

"It may become mortal if the disease is not arrested."

"Can you cure me," demanded he again.

"Without any doubt, and I shall now write a prescription."

"Don't write anything here," interrupted the Holy Father; "but prepare the medicines yourself and give them to me with your hands. You will be introduced into my presence."

The audience was concluded. The attendants approached the doctor, and the Holy Father had only time to bless the free-thinker for his rendering so great a service to orthodoxy.

According to the orders given, Dr. G—— prepared the necessary ointments, and every day, under the pretext of having a new amulet blessed, or of obtaining a more complete absolution, he rubbed secretly the leg of his Holiness. The remedy operated; at the end of a few days the Holy Father was getting better. His leg being nearly healed, to the astonishment of the Cardinals, he walked with a light step. They were rejoiced at this unexpected cure. They knew well they could not attribute it to the Italian physicians. It was supposed by them to be owing to a miraculous intervention. But no miracle can take place in Rome unless the Sacred College consents to them. Now, their permission was not at this time demanded. The miracle was, therefore, contraband. The Holy Father, however a man of spirit, and to the astonishment of all around him, he avowed, with irony, that it was a physician, a French physician, a free-thinker of a physician, who had cured him.—Paris Cor. Independance Belge, Sept. 27.

"THE WOMAN GAVE ME, AND I DID EAT."—The Confederate girls carried things with a high hand when the rebellion first broke out. The Nashville Union says "young men were coaxed, dragged, and actually kissed and driven into the rebel army. The beautiful young mistress curled her lip in scorn, and turned haughtily away from her most favored suitor, if he hesitated to fight against his country. Hundreds of the most talented and accomplished young men of this State, whose first impulses were for the Union, trembled for a moment before this tempest of female, like aspen leaves in an equinoctial gale, and then bowing their heads before the pressure, went away sorrowfully to treason and to death. Not the Syrens of the Grecian seas sang more treacherously to the shipwrecked mariners, than thousands of the daughters of Tennessee sang to the young men of the State; to their friends, brothers, and lovers."

MR. LINCOLN'S LAST STORY.—Recently the President met two gentlemen upon the sidewalk near the White House, one of them an old friend from Ohio. "By the way," said Mr. Lincoln, "Governor Brough called on me yesterday, and he was lamenting that he did not get a few more votes, so as to make his majority over Vallandigham one hundred thousand. It reminded me of an incident I once heard of. A man who had been greatly annoyed by an ugly dog, took a club and knocked the dog on the head and killed him; but he still continued to whack the animal, when a passer-by cried out to him, 'Why, What are you about, man? don't you see the dog is dead? where is the use of beating him now?' 'Yes,' replied the man, whacking away at the dog, 'I know he is dead, but I wanted to teach the mean dog that there is punishment after death.' Poor Val was dead before the election, but Brough wanted to keep on whacking him, as the man did the dog, after death."

A SOLDIER'S DEATH-BED.—Mr. Taylor, of the Chicago Journal, in one of his letters from Chattanooga relates the following incident: A soldier, fairly riddled with bullets, like one of those battle flags of Illinois, lay on a blanket, gasping for breath. "Jemmy," said a comrade, and a friend before this cruel war began, with one arm swung up in a sling, and who is going home on a furlough, "Jemmy, what shall I tell them at home for you?" "Tell them," said he, "that there is hardly enough left of me to say 'I,' but—hold down here a minute—tell Kate there is enough left of me to love her till I die!" Jemmy got his furlough that night, and left the ranks forever.

To The Public.

I WOULD HEREBY CALL THE ATTENTION of the public to the fact, that on the first of May, 1864, they will be called upon by the United States Assessors, to make statement of Income for the year 1863, and as the year 1863 is just ended, it would be well for every one to make up their accounts for said year, while every thing is fresh in their memory, and be ready to make statement when called upon by the Assessor.

Under the ruling of the Commissioner of Internal revenue, persons can only deduct expenses for repairs, etc., from the amount received from the same property on which such expenditure have been made. For instance—a person receives $500 for rents, he can use of that amount all that is necessary to repair such property, from which rents were derived; the same rule applies to steam-boats, saw-mills, and other like property; but all monies derived from interest on notes, Bonds, Mortgages, and from dividends, must be returned as Income, although a portion or the whole has been expended in repairing buildings, steamboats, etc.

If persons will prepare their accounts and statements showing amounts received, and the source from whence derived, amount expended, and for what purpose, then with the forms and blanks which will be furnished them by the Assessor, a correct return can be made.

Oregon Statesman and Mountaineer please copy.

THOS. FRAZAR, U. S. Assessor for Oregon.

Portland, Dec. 31st, 1863. [4wh]
